

MEET TOMORROW'S WORLD

A MEETING ON THE ETHICS OF EMERGING TECHNOLOGIES

Are you and your children really ready for Tomorrow's World?

The astonishing (some would say alarming) pace of scientific and technical advances - from the rise of the robots to artificial intelligences that are champion game-players , from fitness monitors to learning aids to the social media at large - has already changed our lives. But what next for the home, the workplace, the classroom, the medical center? How do we comprehend and control the potential consequences for our communities?

Come and MEET an international group of experts to explore the ethics of these emerging technologies, ask questions and offer opinions at a Conversation in the Round.

Where: San Diego Central Public Library Shiley Suite, 330 Park Blvd, San Diego 92101

When: Thursday, November 10, 2016 from 5:00 – 7:00 p.m.

Reception to follow. Click here for parking and trolley information.

REGISTER TODAY AT: <https://ethicstechnology.eventbrite.com>

INVITED SPEAKERS ARE:

William Casebeer	Lockheed Martin
Kate Darling	Massachusetts Institute of Technology
Jay Giedd	University of California San Diego
Hannah Maslen	University of Oxford
Mayank Mehta	University of California Los Angeles
Vivienne Ming	Founder & Executive Chair at Socos
Julian Savulescu	University of Oxford
Rachel Wurzman	University of Pennsylvania

MODERATED BY:

Roger Bingham, Director, The Science Network & The Collaboratory at University of California, San Diego
Judy Illes, President, International Neuroethics Society (INS)

QUESTIONS:

Kate Shanks – 858-822-2902, or email Shelley Marquez at smarquez@ucsd.edu
Karen Graham – 301-229-1660, kgraham@neuroethicssociety.org, INS

SPONSORED BY:

The International Neuroethics Society, the Temporal Dynamics of Learning Center, and The Collaboratory of the University of California, San Diego.

ORGANIZED BY:

Judy Illes, Karen Graham, Rachel Wurzman (INS Public Session Program Committee)
Andrea Chiba, Roger Bingham, Deborah Forster (University of California, San Diego)

The International Neuroethics Society is a 501(c)(3) public charity dedicated to aligning ethics, law, society and policy with advances in neuroscience. For more information or to donate: www.neuroethicssociety.org

This public forum is supported by the National Science Foundation grant SMA-1550967

