Neuroethics Posters & Talks

The International Neuroethics Society invites researchers and clinicians to submit abstracts for presentation at the 2022 INS Annual Meeting on November 2-4. This hybrid event will include opportunities to participate online as well as in-person in Montreal, Canada.

SUBMISSION DETAILS

Abstracts describe the research or scholarship related to the field of neuroethics which you want to present. When submitting, indicate which presentation formats you would like to be considered for: poster presentation (virtual or in-person), short talk (5 minutes) or long talk (12 minutes).

Abstracts will help shape the conference program, and outstanding contributions will be considered for an edited volume planned to emerge from this year’s meeting.

MEETING THEME

The theme for this meeting is: ‘Bringing Neuroethics to Life Throughout Patient Care, Research, and Policy’.

A number of sessions will be organized around this theme and will address topics related to: prevention; diagnosis; emerging therapies, technologies and research; and neurorecovery and end of life.

INS is particularly interested in fostering interdisciplinary exchanges, international cross-talk, and greater inclusion of patients and patient advocates in the annual meeting.

The program and scheduled sessions will be announced over the next few months as speakers are confirmed.

PRESENTATION TYPES

› Poster (virtual or in-person)
› Short talk (5 minutes)
› Long talk (12 minutes)

REQUIREMENTS

Abstracts are 250-350 words and must be in English. Submissions include:

› Title
› Authors
› Author affiliations
› References and disclosures
› Presentation preferences
› Language preferences

MEMBERSHIP

INS membership is not required to submit an abstract. However, one author must be available to present the research and must be an INS member at the time of presentation.

SUBMISSION

The submission deadline is May 31 (11:30pm EDT). Incomplete or late submissions will not be accepted.

Review the call for posters and talks for complete details.