

Call for Neuroethics Abstracts

The International Neuroethics Society (INS) invites researchers from around the world to submit abstracts for presentation at our 2019 annual meeting in Chicago. We welcome abstracts related to the field of neuroethics from any disciplinary background, whether the work is empirical or theoretical.

Investigators at all career stages are encouraged to submit one or more abstracts. Authors submitting abstracts are eligible for presentation opportunities and travel support listed at right.

Abstracts will be peer reviewed. Acceptance will be based on content, available space, and overall program balance. Incomplete or late submissions will not be accepted.

Abstract submission deadline:
June 24, 2019 (11:30pm EDT)

REQUIREMENTS

Abstracts must be submitted online and include:

- › A concise abstract of no more than 500 words, in English
- › A title and a list of all authors and their institutions
- › One author who is an INS member and will present a poster (abstracts can be submitted before renewing membership)
- › Disclosure of any conflicts and up to five references

The composition and focus of the abstract must:

- › Clearly articulate a neuroethics problem giving rise to a research question that drives the work
- › Include relevant background information, and engage with extant literature
- › Employ, and clearly identify, research and/or theoretical methods appropriate for the problem and questions raised, including information about sample, recruitment, and analytic strategy (for empirical work)
- › If empirical, clearly present results (or, where not yet available, hypothesized or anticipated outcomes) and engage with ethical implications
- › Identify the importance to neuroethics of any conclusions drawn or arguments advanced

OPPORTUNITIES

Abstract authors are eligible for recognition, travel support, and presentation opportunities.

- › Poster presentation
- › Oral presentation
- › Travel stipends
- › Poster awards
- › Publication in AJOB Neuroscience
